Foreword

09 – 10 was an outstandingly successful year all round. In the wider sweep of the academic history of the school, it has been our best to date, with record-breaking results for the third year running. Undaunted by the new A* grade at A Level, the Class of 2010 garnered them in with style, while younger girls rose to the challenges offered to them in their new individual tutorial interviews.

The public examinations are, to some in the press, national competitions and while it's heartening to see the school moving firmly into The Telegraph Top 100, (74th), we're also aware that examination results are only one aspect of the portfolio of accomplishments that our girls gain.

Just as important are the myriad activities that an NHS girl enjoys outside the classroom, whether cutting a dash on the stage, scoring goals on the field, trouncing all comers in speaking competitions, working on a major piece of work in the Art Studio, or having fun with a crowd of friends on a Duke of Edinburgh's expedition. All of these events and activities, and more, we count as important achievements and they all lead to the confidence that marks out a High School girl and stays with her for life.

Increasingly, our girls work with us on school developments: Miss Casson led a large Uniform Committee last year, where we were delighted that girls and parents joined with us to produce a really smart new look for the girls.

Many congratulations to all the girls who are featured in this edition and also to all those who may not be mentioned by name here but who also had a very successful year. We benchmark all of the girls in school so that we can see how they're progressing, in their work and in their extra-curricular activities: by any key performance indicators, they're exceeding their targets. High School girls certainly do mean business!

Northampton High Girls Mean Business!

2010 Examinations Successes at Northampton High School

A Level

- A*, A and B percentage is 89%, up 7% on last year and therefore an all-time record for the third year running.
- Over a quarter of all grades were A*.
- Fifteen girls gained all A*/A's.
- Clare Blackman and Jessica Quiney both qualified for their Oxbridge places. Clare achieved six grades at A* and A (A* in Chemistry, Maths and Physics and A in Further Maths, Latin and General Studies) and goes on to study Medicine at Cambridge and Jess gained an A* and two A's and will study Classics at Cambridge.
- There were 100% A*/A Grades in five subjects: Art, Drama, Geography, Physics, and Textiles.

GCSE

- 100% pass rate of 6 x A*-C
- 25% of the grades were A*
- 59% of the grades were A*/A
- Shannon Khaliq achieved 10 A* and an A grade
- Meera Patel and Byul Ryan-Im gained 10 A* grades
- 18 more girls gained all A* and A grades

Some of the departments' headlines, in no particular order, were as follows:

- Achievement in Mathematics was amazing again: well over half of our girls achieved A* at A Level and at GCSE, nearly two thirds achieved at least a grade A.
- The Drama Department swept the board with A grades, gaining all A* grades at A Level and all A* and A grades at GCSE, with Alice Crouch and Janine Brierley scoring maximum marks.
- The Sciences performed spectacularly. At GCSE, 70% of girls achieved A* or A grades, including 22 girls who achieved 100% in the Additional Biology examination paper. Half of our A Level

Chemists achieved A* and A grades: 84% did the same at GCSE. In Physics all A Level students achieved A* or A grades.

- The Art Department always excels: six out of eight A Level results were A*, with the remaining girls gaining A grades. At GCSE, half of all results were A*.
- Modern Languages are strong. We gained 100% A and B grades at A Level in German and Spanish. 80 % of our AS Languages students achieved an A grade, which bodes well for next year, and 46% of GCSE results were at A or A*.
- In Classics, 70% of GCSE Latin students gained A* and A grades.
- In a wonderful A Level English set, all girls gained either A* or A, with Emma Langhorn gaining full marks.
- Bravo! to the Music Department. Emily Freeman, Emily Jobling and Sarah Small were all awarded 100% in the Performance module of their GCSE Music examination.
- In our popular History Department, two thirds of girls received a Grade A at A Level and at GCSE three quarters of girls were awarded an A or A* grade.
- The Religious Studies Department once again achieved excellent examination results. At GCSE, 44% of candidates achieved A*; at AS level, 86% of candidates gained grades A or B, and at A Level, Katy Nunn gained 100% for one course unit, achieving A* overall.
- A Level results for the new Geography course were very successful, with all girls gaining at least an A grade and 50% achieving the new A* grade. GCSE results continued to be strong, with 81% of girls achieving either an A* or an A grade.
- All A Level Textiles grades were A and all GCSE Food and Textiles students were awarded grades A*, A or B.
- The Business Studies and Economics department continued to grow this year, with a 100% pass rate in both subjects from A* to B at A Level.
- In the new subjects, AS Government and Politics students achieved pleasing AS results, with 75% getting an A or B grade, and all girls studying Psychology achieved A* to C at A Level.
- PE results were good all round, including an A* grade at A Level for Virginia Lee.

We compete hard in sport. Amongst other successes, we finished in third place in the Oundle Invitational Under 18 Netball Tournament, on entering for the first time; our swimmers reached the national finals of the team relays' competition and our Badminton teams won all three of the county competitions, with our U16 team emerging runners up in the Midlands.

Several other departments put their girls into competitive situations - and won - in 09 – 10:

Alex Pritchard won the Nuffield Foundation Stockholm International Youth Science prize at the National Science and Engineering awards in Manchester, for her work on coeliac disease. Alex will represent the UK at the Nobel Prize Science awards ceremony in Stockholm later this year.

independent schools in our area.

For the first time this year, the Business Studies department entered the Institute of Chartered Accountants for England and Wales' Business Enterprise Competition. From an original entry of over 170 schools, we were placed third in the national finals in Birmingham in July.

Schools Food Challenge Team

Natalie Nguyen in the Lower Fourth entered the Junior Mathematical Challenge and, having gained a Gold Award, was invited to take part in the UK Junior Olympiad. Of the 1200 children that took part, Natalie was awarded a Distinction with a silver medal and became one of the top fifty mathematicians of her age in the country.

Mrs. Moss, leading the Design & Technology Department, challenged every Year group to compete nationally. Their successes included winning both categories in the University of Northampton Fashion Design Competition; a team of U4 girls achieving first prize in the Rotary Technology Tournament, from over 50 teams that entered; being the first team to reach the national finals of the Schools Food Challenge in their first year of entering and, finally, the school being commended for the very high standard of entries in a national mobility competition and two L5 girls, Lauren McColl and Catriona Percival, being short listed into the finals.

In Economics, Laura Trott was placed in the top five of the Nomura National essay competition: a very commendable result, as Laura now goes on to study Economics.

Jennifer Small, A Level Physics student and aspiring engineer, won a prestigious GE Star Award from the General Electric Company. In addition to a financial award issued to Jennifer, the GE Foundation Program also granted a financial award of US $500 to the High School. In the British Biology Olympiad, our 6th Form girls performed extremely well; Sarah Northall achieved a Bronze award.

Molly Bell in the Lower Fifth gained a highly sought after place in the National Youth Theatre.

Annie Moreby in the Sixth Form won the Pearson and Silver award offered by the GDST for a Classics project.

Presentation Skills are Essential to Success

High School girls found themselves in a number of situations where their fantastic presentation skills carried the day.

From a wealth of talent, two senior public speaking teams and one intermediate were selected to enter the Rotary 'Youth Speaks' competition. They quickly progressed to the District Semi-finals. The intermediate team, comprised of Nuria Ashmore Barrios, Sophia von Widekind and Jessica Leech, competed at Leicester Grammar School, winning the contest with their speech, 'What's in a name?'. This guaranteed them a place at the District Final at Wellingborough School in February. At this level they were once again victorious, with Sophia von Widekind winning the prize for best Chairman.

of the art software. Ballerinas of Grade 8 standard thrilled us with their dancing. Megan Walker gave a one-woman show to great acclaim and many musical ensembles thrilled us, including choral pieces effectively staged in the Foyer and several displays of individual virtuoso playing and singing. There were many stunning pieces of work on display from the Design & Technology department, including the delicious-looking but sadly inedible fabric meals!

Mrs. Drew took over as Director of Music in January and immediately infused the department's activities with her unique enthusiasm. The standard of instrumental playing continued to rise: in the Spring term, 90% of our girls achieved Merits and Distinctions in their Associated Board Music examinations. Last March, our 'Musical Extravaganza' displayed a range of our girls' talents for Music, Dance and Drama. Some girls now rehearse and conduct groups, developing important leadership roles as they mentor younger girls. The Senior Choir continues to expand its membership and, in addition, we now run a Chamber Choir for more experienced singers, while the Senior String Group remains a flagship of the Music Department. Last January, it opened the Milton Keynes Schools' Prom 2010 and wowed the audience with its professional sound.

Drama takes place on an ambitious scale. 'Attempts on her Life' was the senior production at the start of the year, which was a 'promenade' style of performance and gave an experimental theatre experience to the audience, while the major school production was a combined 'Musical Theatre Extravaganza'.

The District Semi-finals for the senior teams also took place in February. The team of Holly Lee, Amelia Demicoli and Xing Ding put on an excellent performance and were unlucky not to progress further. The team of Naomi Rowe, Harriet Afriat and Emily Carson also put in a sterling performance, joining the intermediate team for the District Semi-final at Wellingborough School with their speech 'Boxing in Schools'. Harriet was awarded the prize for best vote of thanks.

The Arts Festival in June was amazing, with beautiful work on display in Art, Dance, Design and Technology, Drama and Music. In Art, outstanding creations included mixed media biography boxes and complex digital imagery utilising state to give presentations. One of the most dramatic events in the past year was the passionate debating of our political parties who took part in the Mock Election and then ran vigorous campaigns. Eventually, Annie Moreby was victorious for the Conservatives although, as elsewhere in May, she failed to get an overall majority.

In a less serious but just as eagerly prepared arena, the Fashion Show took the school by storm, with its stylish presentations by delightfully poised models, from our elegant Head Girl, Charlotte-Saskia Payne-Clarke, to the team of skipping Upper Thirds. Funds raised will support our World Challenge team preparing to go to Costa Rica next year. We are very grateful to the many local shops and boutiques who enabled this fun event to happen.

And we also benefitted from watching others presenting. Dr Rhiannon Mayne, Old Girl and now an Assistant Professor in Meteoritics in the USA, was able to return as one of our visiting speakers in Science. Mr Derek Slein gave a brilliant talk on Light-Emitting Diodes. The Upper Third welcomed a Fire Safety Officer who reinforced the work they had been doing on Combustion. Our Lower Fourth's gained inspiration for their creative writing from our lively visiting author this year, Mark Robson, while the Sixth Form enjoyed four theatre trips, including seeing Legally Blonde in London in July.

Drama also takes place in classrooms! Lower Fourth History students enjoyed dressing up to put Elizabeth I through a mock-up of the once loved TV show "Blind Date" and a group of talented Lower Fifth Historians wrote, and then performed, a song based on the experiences of Jarrow marchers in the 1930's.

We are immensely proud of all the events and achievements that our girls accomplished in 09 – 10. None of it would have been possible without the extraordinary efforts of a highly dedicated staff of teaching and non-teaching staff who nurtured, educated and entertained the girls throughout a very busy and sometimes challenging school year.

How about some "Blue Sky Thinking"?

Outward Bound expedition, also to the Lake District. She writes, 'It was a pretty strenuous week, but the girls rose to the challenge, with three of the four groups making it to the summit of Helvellyn during a two day expedition, while the fourth group walked for longer but stayed lower, reaching the summit of Place Fell; still a real feat of endurance and teamwork for that group'.

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award provides opportunities for girls to get out and test themselves in completely different environments. We are very proud of our Bronzes in the middle school while nine resilient and determined participants successfully completed their Gold DofE Assessed Expedition in the Lake District, overcoming the most testing conditions yet experienced by Mr Earp when leading such a venture.

Mrs. Claridge returned to us from retirement to accompany the Lower Fifth

The Modern Foreign Languages Department invited the History department to join them in Berlin, which made for a rich variety of foci this year, as the city revealed its wealth of cultural, historical and linguistic opportunities to senior German specialists and Historians.

Geographers continued enthusiastically to commune with the earth and the sky, visiting Birmingham to study urban regeneration and Braunton Burrows in North Devon to investigate sand dunes for GCSE coursework.

You get out of it what you put in...

Last year's main School Charity was Help for Heroes and individual Years and classes also supported other good causes. Sixth Form girls learned Salsa dancing to support LEPR while the Drama Department raised money by staging regular lunch time performances. Talent shows and fetes were popular and successful. Our girls gave more in 09 – 10 than ever before, with each girl contributing more than £15 on average – a wonderful achievement by the girls and their open-hearted parents.

Parents were to the fore with the welcome renaissance of our Parent-Teacher Association, the Friends of Northampton High School. Carol McCosh took up the reins as Chair and gave us an amazing year of very different events and experiences, including the cheerful Welcome Picnic in the sun in September, the New Moon Event for senior girls and the glamorous Hollywood Bollywood Evening in the Junior School. More than £2000 was raised towards the new minibus: the school is most grateful to Mrs. McCosh and her tireless group of committee members and friends for all the enjoyment and fundraising they have given to the school.

We are fortunate to have a very committed School Governing Board. In June we thanked Mrs. Liz Kelly for her many years of excellent service to the school, as Chair, and we welcomed Professor Simon Gregory who quickly started work enthusiastically as her successor.
