Northampton High School

“Thank you for your interest in our very special school, where we are as ambitious for ourselves as we are for our students. I am confident that you too would find it a stimulating and rewarding place to develop your practice and to move forward in your career.” Dr Helen Stringer, Headmistress.

Northampton High School is a leading independent girls’ day school and one of the oldest girls’ schools in the country, with a tradition of pioneering in girls’ education going back to its foundation in 1878. We are an all through school (ages 2-18) with around 600 girls across the nursery, junior and senior schools, including a sixth form of about 110 students. Our school is situated in Hardingsstone, just outside the growing town of Northampton, in a leafy site with extensive playing fields and spacious buildings that were purpose built when the school moved from the town centre in 1992. The transport links are excellent, with easy access from the M1 and Northampton rail station a short taxi ride away. The school is a popular choice in the local vicinity and girls also join us from areas further afield, such as Milton Keynes, Warwickshire and Bedfordshire.

Northampton High is an academically selective school, although our intake is broad across the range of students considered to be above average nationally. Our pupils are determined, sharp-witted, animated and curious. Public examination results are consistently excellent and students go on to study a wide range of subjects at prestigious universities, including Oxbridge, and a range of institutions for the Arts. We are confident that these outcomes come about because of our uncompromising emphasis on the highest quality in everything we do and our ethos of continual improvement for all, students and teachers alike. This is seen in our commitment to developing a 360 degree understanding of each girl, sustained by particularly warm and supportive pastoral care that weaves its way through all aspects of school life.

As a community we have the skills and attributes within the staff body for excellent continuing professional development and learning. Teachers and other staff members contribute to a thriving CPDL programme and this is supplemented by external speakers and courses as required.

“I would say as a new teacher I had all the usual worries, where, how etc. but all the staff made me forget I was new. Everyone is very caring and the whole atmosphere in the school allows you to gently settle in and learn whilst having the best teaching experience.” Karla: joined in September 2017.
