The Northampton High School Chronicle is a newspaper created by U3L in the style of The Pickwick Portfolio in Little Women

Weather report by Sunny Raine - heavy snowfall in early February led to the creation of a snow coronavirus

The Mystery of the Last Cookie-1-Who could of taken the chocolate-chipped cookie was it A-Mum? Was it B-Myself? Or was it C-The Dog. I of course know it wasn't me so who is it to be.

The Mystery of the Last Cookie-2-Detective Minkle-berry is on the case (me). Last night a series of strange events happened starting with the cookie.

The cookie was as always in the celebrations box and as we thought at the time it was just a normal night but we were wrong. Mr Stickle came round at exactly 8:12.

As we had finished dinner earlier on we finally had dessert a series of cookie (there were 4 left). Mr Stickle who had gone and got them said there was only three and someone must of ...

By golly, I know who it is, by the way it is none of my suspects ! This morning I felt something in the box while I was taking the bins out. Mum must of put in that box which I through out.

Which means Detective Minkle-Berry is the culprit. DUN...DUN...DUN.

New things you tried over half term:

Janet Wimplewink tried baking oreo mug cakes which tasted delicious with a dash of cream.

Making popcorn, almost blew up the microwave again

Lenny Mclaw decided to go on daily walks and runs.

i tried making a strawberry cheesecake but unfortunately, it ended in a disaster! Lizzy Perriwinkle

Lots of lolz page!

On this page you will find a couple of funny lockdown stories to make you laugh your head off!

Embarrassing video disaster!

One day I was in form and someone had answered a question from the teacher. To do this they had to unmute, of course. Then the teacher started talking again and you would think all would be well. However, it wasn't. Nobody had noticed that the girl who had answered the question was still unmuted. Her camera was off, so nobody had paid attention to her circle. Suddenly a voice rode up above the teachers. I'm not exactly sure how it went now but the girl was talking to her parents and saying words like 'mummy' to the entire class! The teacher had to tell her to unmute! Cringe!

What's your cringe rating for this embarrassing video disaster? I certainly will give it 10/10!

I do hope this doesn't happen to you!

My cat is curious. She enjoys exploring parts of the house she's most definitely not allowed in. One particular incident was when she walked in to the (unused) fireplace. She had soot all over her belly (this gremlin had lied down in it like the intellectual she is) and still complained when she had to get a bath. That was the day we found out her legs were not stubby, she was just 75% fluff.

Cringe Rating: 3/10
But laughter despite the unfortunateness of the circumstances: 10/10.

Once I found a ruler on the floor in the classroom. I was playing with it and I accidentally-and-defi nitely-not-on-purpose flicked it backwards and hit the person sitting behind me in the head with the ruler.

For some reason, I get 'name vibes', where a name in my mind suits someone so well, I forget that it isn't their name and call them that. The most recent 'name vibe' was Olivia. I don't know anybody called Olivia.

Easy Recipes

Chocolate Chip Cookies

1 1/2 cups of plain flour	1 teaspoon of baking soda	A pinch of salt	1/2 cup of almost melted butter
2/3 cup of dark brown sugar (preferably)	1/3 cup of granulated sugar	Mix with Love	Combine 1 egg

o

Banana Fritters

Step 1: Get your Banana and masher, in a medium bowl and mash it into a thick liquidy substance.

Step 2: Add some flour and milk into the bowl until it has a cake batter consistency

Step 3: Taste test, if you feel like it needs sugar then you can add some until it becomes as sweet as you would like

Step 4: Get your frying pan and heat it over the lowest stove burner on a medium setting

Step 5: pour the mixture into the frying pan in small circle shapes and cook until they become a dark brown but not burnt.

Step 6: Wait for them to cool then enjoy!

Oranges review, The co-op easy peelers are by far the best oranges I have tasted, better than candy. They are sour and juicy. The normal oranges are not very sweet and are kind of dry and very hard to peel

Apples are overrated

Are you sad? I recommend interesting looking chocolates to boost your happiness levels, as chocolate is scientifically proven to release stress. Galaxy is always a favourite, even if it isn't a quirky one.

Evening walk experiences by Ivana Kookie

Seeing cats on daily walks round the neighbourhood - some are friendly, some run away. One was sitting in a window sill staring out.

What is the protocol for walking past someone? Does the person who notices first cross over to the other side of the road?

When did bicycles get to ride on pavements rather than in the bicycle lanes?

someone has been writing the names of plants in chalk on the pavement

the spring flowers have arrived - it's been nearly a year since starting taking evening walks

I saw a house with a picture of a full size giraffe, legs and body in the downstairs window and head and neck in the top window.

for school you can tell your parents to do the same if they are at home and if you are school

TAKING CARE OF YOUR PET CAN BE TRICKY IN LOCKDOWN AND IN SCHOOL SO HERE ARE SOME SUGGESTIONS

for home schooling you can set an alarm jill

Try teaching them new trucks in your spare time to keep them active.

lockdown has been tough on everyone especally when you have been in three lock downs over nearly one year so these are some ideas to get you throw the next few months when apparently there will be no more boundries.

Things to help calm stress (please feel free to add your own)

meditating, listing to some calming music

Just take a break and do something breathing excercises.

Lockdown is hard, we stuggle to carry on,
So when we were told we could go back to school
Surely we would be bursting with joy?
But no, alas the new rules made us apprehensive
Masks all day, up to 10 hours if you get on the bus,
The only break we get is to eat our lunch.
Also we must have a swab up our noses twice every week,
so did we want to go back?
Well, thats a complicated answer you'll see,
Some do want to go back,
But others,
No.
But then a fellow friend reminded us that we were lucky,
Doctors had to wear full PPE for up to 20 hours a day,
We are lucky bunnies.
So we all decided we wanted to go back to school,
We are all happy now.
